

Team development

A team can perform better and stronger by paying attention to communication, allocation of tasks, and expectations. There are many several ways to detect patterns that are not functional within a team, depending on the team's composition and objective. Successful teams are teams that target a high quality of interaction and have a high commitment to obtain team results. The Team Coaching of HetWerkt guarantees you a successful team development.

You wish to learn more about this course? +31 (0)541 - 663 029 or info@jahetwerkt.nl

Programme

- Formulating an individual and team objective;
- You will understand your own natural behaviour pattern versus allocation of tasks;
- You will learn about the effect your attitude has on others;
- You will learn to gauge others on the basis of their qualities, and as such you can lead a team in an effective team composition, which fits in the organizational context;
- We look into the different phases of team development and you will learn which interventions are the most appropriate;
- We work with own practice cased or familiar situations;
- Your unique qualities to the new role as team coach.

Outcome

- Our team coaching focuses on the process of common understanding, feeling and improving open communication, and effective cooperation.
- You will use your individual and team qualities optimally to reach optimal team development;
- Thanks the optimal team development, your team can work constructively towards a professional collaboration in an open environment.
- People will respect and make more use of each one's qualities;
- The starting point is working and thinking from a secure climate in a pleasant and open environment;
- Teams can be guided in team phases from beginner's phase to adult phase;

Specifications

Coaching possibilities

- Tailor-made programme in group over 4-5 day parts;
- Blended variant in addition to the programme above, in combination with online modules.